
Hello

Posted by justonce - 2010/08/30 02:39

Hello to all, i have just joined this site. I am not a Muslim or indeed religious. I have briefly read some articles here and believe very much that there must be a change. I have all but exhausted myself with this country and society. I want to live in peace, free from harrassment from authority, free to live side by side with all in true peace, accepted for what i believe in..... I dont have anything of value to offer in the quest for a new community except, friendship and loyalty. I can see that this is an Islamic themed site so, Salam to all.:)

=====

Re:Hello

Posted by Vegetta - 2010/09/23 04:05

Salaam to you justonce,

As you can see this forum is still in the "GROWTH" stage which explains the very late reply.

As for me, although I do in fact believe in the quran, I am NOT religious, I do not have a religion, I do not believe that the quran promotes "religion" nor do I believe Islam to be a "religion".

I welcome the outreach of all those who believe in ,wish for and wishes to establish a just society based on true principles of Freedom, Justice and Equality.

=====